MESSAGE

Dear Student,

As higher and professional education expand more people achieve degrees. Graduates seeking challenging and rewarding careers need to stand out in competitive market. Business awareness, skills and experiences are increasingly sought by employers. The nature of management jobs and career are also changing as organisation develop to meet the demand of a more global, more competitive and more flexible business environment. It is now increasingly common for managers to take on a variety of roles and responsibilities to work in multi functional teams and to move between job functions and organisations throughout their lives.

It is heartening to note that IGM has made modest beginning in this direction with Management , IT and Paramedical programs.

IGM has been accredited as an Institution of Excellent in the field of management by leading corporates both in India and abroad.

The institute proudly presents its unique MBA study with various specialisations through regular and distance mode of learning.

The faculty of the institute assist the students throughout the study and thereafter to instill in them innovative ideas and strategies needed for global management and technological challenges.
